Q & A

Q I want to know more about reentry permits.

Those who fall under ①~④ below are exempted from receiving a re-entry permit where re-entry in Korea is possible during the relevant period without receiving a re-entry permit.

- ① Registered foreigners: Those possessing Diplomat (A-1) - Conventions/Agreements (A-3), Korean Arts and Culture (D-1) - Accompanying Spouse/Child (F-3), Marriage Migrant (F-6) - Work and Visit (H-2) visas and who want to reenter Korea within 1 year of leaving
- ② Permanent Residents (F-5): Those who want to reenter Korea within 2 years of leaving
- ③ Overseas Koreans (F-4): Those who wish to reenter Korea after leaving Korea within the stay period
- ④ Refugee travel certificate keepers: Those who want to reenter Korea after leaving within the expiration date of the certificate.
However, please check the details from the Immigration Office Call Center 1345 because the regulations may change.

Q My period of stay will expire soon, but I'm not prepared to depart Korea yet. Until when can I obtain permission for an extension of stay for departure?

Permission for an extension of stay for departure may be granted for a period of up to 30 days from the expiration date of the period of your stay. To extend your period of stay, you should present a valid airline ticket whose date of departure is within 30 days, your alien registration card, and passport. You can only apply for an extension of stay prior to the expiration date of your period of stay.

Q I heard that I should return my alien registration card at the airport during the departure inspection if the deadline for departure has expired. However, I lost my alien registration card two days before my departure.

If you fail to return your alien registration card, you may face a fine. In principle, you would need to be reissued an alien registration card under such circumstances. However, as the date of departure is imminent, you can apply for the reissuance of an alien registration card at the immigration office having jurisdiction over your residence and submit the reissuance receipt instead of your alien registration card.

Q & A

- Q If a missionary with a D-6 (Religious Worker) visa intends to teach a foreign language at a language institute while continuing to engage in religious activities, should he/she obtain permission to do so from the immigration office?

A D-6 visa holder may train his/her coworkers in a foreign language at the workplace or teach a foreign language as volunteer work (non-profit, for free) at social welfare facilities, such as schools and religious institutions, or at community service centers, without additional permission. If he/she intends to focus more on teaching a foreign language than on religious activities, or on profiting as a foreign language instructor, he/she should give up the D-6 visa and reenter the Republic of Korea to be issued a new visa.

- Q I have applied for an alien registration card, but I cannot go to the immigration office to pick it up in person due to personal circumstances. What should I do?

If you cannot receive your alien registration card in person, an authorized representative may pick it up for you. You should give your authorized representative a power of attorney, and the authorized representative should submit it to receive the alien registration card. If you wish to receive the alien registration card by mail, you should apply for the mailing service with the immigration office. In this case, you will bear the mailing expenses.

- ❺ Trash Disposal
- ❻ Q&A

01 Types of Residences

① Apartment

An apartment refers to a five-story or higher multi-unit building consisting of independent houses. Generally, an apartment complex has amenities, stores, and parking lots, and janitors are employed in the complex. Residents should pay management expenses every month, including public utility charges such as electric bills, water fees, gas bills, etc.

② Officetel (for residence)

An officetel, a portmanteau of "office" and "hotel", refers to an office space equipped with residential facilities. It is classified as a business facility under the Building Act. However, many office workers and single-person households tend to prefer this type of residence because it includes built-in furniture and home appliances for residents' convenience. Most officetels have parking lots. Officetel residents should pay management expenses every month, just like apartment residents.

③ Detached residence

A detached residence refers to a free-standing residential building on land owned by an individual. In most cases, a detached residence is owned by one or two persons (joint ownership).

④ Tenement/multi-household house

A tenement, a type of Western-style multi-occupancy building, refers to a four-story or lower multi-unit building consisting of two or more houses. A multi-household house is a residential building where several households can live together.

⑤ Studio apartment

A studio apartment is similar to an officetel, but smaller. Studio apartments are divided into the separated kitchen type and all-in-one type, depending on their structure. As the rent is cheaper for a studio apartment than an officetel, they are generally concentrated near colleges.

⑥ Boarding house

Residents can stay in a boarding house by paying the monthly rent only, without need for a deposit. The monthly rent includes housing expenses, utility charges, and breakfast and dinner expenses. Numerous residents live in a boarding house and should share the kitchen, living room, washrooms, etc. Generally, the owner also lives in the boarding house. Many boarding houses are concentrated near colleges.

⑦ Gosiwon

A gosiwon has the cheapest deposit and monthly rent. A gosiwon unit is very small and only suitable for a single-person household. Residents share a kitchen, washrooms, showers, etc., and may cook if they want. Many gosiwon facilities provide basic food ingredients, such as rice, eggs, and kimchi, for free.

02 Lease Contracts

① Deposit-based lease (jeonse)

- A deposit-based lease is one type of way to lease a house. The lessee makes a lump-sum deposit on a rental space to the property owner and uses the house for a period of one or two years, according to the lease contract. The lessee shall pay 10% of the security deposit for the lease as a down payment when concluding the contract, and settle the balance when moving in.
- The lessee shall maintain the original house conditions during the term of the lease. If he/she wants interior work done, he/she shall obtain consent from the property owner in advance.
- The property owner shall return the full amount of the security deposit to the lessee at the end of the lease.

② Monthly lease

- Under a monthly lease contract with a term of one or two years, the lessee may use the house by paying a deposit up front and rent every month. The amount of the deposit is generally 10 to 20 times the monthly rent.
- The lessee shall pay 10% of the security deposit for the lease as a down payment and settle the balance when moving in. If the lessee cancels the lease during the term of the contract, the down payment shall not be returned. If the property owner cancels the contract, he/she shall pay twice the amount of the down payment to the lessee.
- In principle, the full amount of the security deposit is returned after termination of the contract. In special cases, such as arrears of monthly rent or utility charges, these expenditures are deducted from the security deposit, and the remaining amount is returned.
- Real estate agent commissions vary depending on the type of residence and area, as well as the transaction amount.

You can find real estate agencies that provide services in foreign languages (mainly English, Chinese, and Japanese) via the Seoul Metropolitan Government's Real Estate Information Center website (land.seoul.go.kr).

03 Moving

① Things to look out for before moving in

- Check the conditions of the house thoroughly before you move in. If there are any issues, take a picture and notify the real estate agent or property owner of it before you unpack.
- If you want to paint or repair the house, you should obtain permission from the property owner in advance.
- If you move out, do not forget to return the house keys to the owner after receiving the security deposit to avoid potential conflict.

WHAT TO REMEMBER WHEN MOVING OUT!

Make sure all utility charges and management expenses are paid.
Pay all of your utility charges, such as electric bills, gas bills, and management expenses, and keep the receipts just in case.

- | | |
|-----------|---|
| Inquiries | • City gas : 1588-5788
• Water and sewage : 120
• Electricity : 123 |
|-----------|---|

- Before you depart the Republic of Korea, be sure to pay all management expenses and utility charges, including electric bills, gas bills, and water fees, to avoid disruptions during your immigration inspection.

② Moving options

- Call van moving company : Call van moving company: If you do not have a lot of luggage, it is economical to use a call van moving service.
- General moving company : If you use a general moving company, you will make a contract for the use of the vehicles, and should pack and arrange your goods by yourself. Prices vary depending on the number of staff required for moving. The number of staff will be determined based on the amount of goods to be moved.
- Full-service moving company : A full-service moving company handles the entire moving process, including packing, transport, and unpacking in the new house. You are only expected to take care of your valuables, and all you have to do is to let the movers know how you want the furniture and home appliances laid out when moving in. Prices vary depending on the amount of goods to be moved. You may also use other services, such as cleaning, by paying additional charges.

Tip What is an implied renewal?

※ You should remember this before the expiration date of your contract. If you want to move out when the current lease contract is terminated, you need to notify the owner of your intention to do so one month before the contract expiration date. Otherwise, the lease contract will be automatically extended even though a new contract was not signed. This is called implied renewal. If the owner does not wish to extend the contract with the current lessee, he/she should ask the lessee to move out two months before the contract expiration date so the lessee can make preparations.

Tip Other moving services

- If you need a place to store your freight and luggage until you move in, you can use an overseas moving company's freight storage service. Storage fees depend on the number of days your goods will be stored.
- If you want to hire a cleaning service before moving in to your new home, look up “입주청소” (move-in cleaning) or “이사청소” (cleaning before moving in) online.

04 Electricity/Gas/Waterworks

① Electricity

- The standard voltage in Korea is 220V, at 60Hz. You should check the voltage and frequency before using electronics you've brought from abroad. A monthly electric bill is issued on the following month. For multi-unit buildings, such as an apartment or officetel, the bill is included in the management expenses.
- If you have any questions about paying, signing up for, or reporting problems with electric bills, you can call the 24-hour Electricity Customer Center for the Korea Electric Power Corporation (☎123) or visit its website (www.kepco.co.kr) [available in Korean, English, Chinese, French, and Spanish].

② Gas

- Although most homes in Seoul use city gas, some cities without city gas facilities use LPG. In Seoul, city gas is supplied by Seoul City Gas. If you live in a house that uses LPG, call a nearby gas supplier to order gas for delivery.
- If you want to use city gas after moving in, you should contact a city gas supplier to have it installed. A city gas company employee will visit your place and install the city gas lines on the designated date.
- It is dangerous to install and remove gas lines by yourself. It should be done by a city gas company employee for your safety.
- Visit the Korea Gas Association website (www.citygas.or.kr) for further information on city gas companies near your home.

③ Waterworks

Water fees are charged every two months. Water fees include waterworks, sewage, and water charges. Call the Waterworks Headquarters (☎120) or visit its website (arisu.seoul.go.kr) [available in Korean and English] for further information.

Tip How to prevent water meters from freezing and bursting in the winter.

Water meters may freeze and burst when the temperature drops below freezing in the winter. Fill the inside of the water meter with an old cloth or towel and cover the outside with vinyl in advance to prevent cold air from getting in. In addition, always leave your faucets dripping to prevent the pipes from freezing.

05 Trash Disposal

① Sorting trash

Sorting trash refers to separating waste into different elements, such as plastic, paper, vinyl, cans, and so on. General trash and food trash that does not need to be sorted should be disposed of in a standard plastic garbage bag. Through the bag fees, this system encourages recycling and reduces waste.

② Fines for violations

Seoul's 25 autonomous Districts, or Gus, have their own schedules for throwing out trash. Violating trash regulations or illegally disposing of trash could result in a maximum fine of 1 million won. If you are caught mixing general and food trash, you could also face a fine, which accumulates based on the number of violations committed. (Regulations may vary by district.)

Q & A

Q I have just moved to a new place. How can I file a moving-in report and obtain the fixed date?

You can complete the moving-in report by reporting a change of domicile to the relevant Gu/Eup/Myeon office, community service center, or immigration office within 14 days from the date you moved. The fixed date can be provided by the community service center or registry having jurisdiction over the domicile after you have completed the moving-in report.

Q I will sign a lease contract with a 3 million won security deposit and monthly rent of 1 million won. How much will the real estate agent commission be?

To calculate the real estate agent commission for a monthly rent lease contract, you should calculate the lease amount by first multiplying the monthly rent by 100, and then adding the security deposit. In this case, 1 million won (monthly rent) \times 100 + 3 million won (security money) = 103 million won (lease amount). If the lease amount is 100 million won or more and less than 300 million won, the real estate agent commission rate is 0.3%. Therefore, you should pay 309,000 won for the real estate agent commission.

Q I would like to cancel a lease contract even though there is still five months on the contract. Should I pay the house owner a penalty?

You are not legally obligated to pay an indemnity. However, as a courtesy, you should find another lessee after consulting the owner about the matter. In this case, you are expected to bear the owner's real estate agent commission fee. If you cannot find a new lessee, you should continue to pay the monthly rent until the lease contract expires. Refer to the Seoul Real Estate Information Center website (land.seoul.go.kr) for further information.

Q My employment contract has just ended and I would like to go on an overseas trip for a while. Where should I leave my belongings and luggage in Korea during my trip?

Local moving companies provide freight storage services. The service fees will depend on the storage period and the size of the goods to be stored. You may ask a truck rental service to move your belongings if necessary. Storage fees are roughly between 60,000 won and 80,000 won (2.5mx2.5m) per month. Truck rental fees depend on the moving distance.

Q My boiler is broken and needs to be repaired. Can I ask the property owner to repair it?

If any of the basic facilities of a leased house are broken, the lessor is obligated to repair them. However, the lessee should repair any damages that result from his/her negligence, etc. If the lessor does not repair it, the lessee may repair it first and claim repair costs from the lessor. Repair costs for a boiler vary depending on the period of use.

Q How can I dispose of fluorescent lamps and batteries?

In order to prevent environmental pollution caused by heavy metals, you should be careful not to mix hazardous waste, such as fluorescent lamps and batteries, with general waste. Each community service center has recycling boxes. In addition, you can find recycling boxes in large waste disposal locations. Contact the community service center to find recycling box locations.

Q & A

- Q I followed all of the waste disposal regulations, but was fined.
I think someone opened my garbage bag and messed it up.
What should I do when I am unfairly fined?

If someone intentionally opens and messes up a garbage bag or cats rummage through it, you may be unfairly fined. In this case, you may file a civil complaint with evidence by filling out an application form at the public service center of the relevant district office.

- Q My glass table-top is broken. How can I dispose of it?

If a small glass item is broken, it is deemed general waste and should be put in a general waste bag. Cover the broken glass with newspaper, etc. for your and other people's safety. If a large glass item is broken, purchase a waste sack from a store that sells garbage bags. Put the broken glass in the waste sack and break it up into smaller pieces before taking it out.

- Q I would like to donate my children's old clothes. What should I do?

■ Clothing drop boxes

If you live in a detached house, find a nearby clothing drop box in your neighborhood. If you live in an apartment complex, put the clothes in the clothing drop box located next to the recycling boxes. Clothing drop boxes installed by disability organizations are not managed by the district.

■ Local welfare groups

Children's welfare centers are generally managed by district offices. If you want to donate clothes to a children's welfare center, contact the Social Welfare Division of the relevant district office.

- ⑨ Q&A

01 Transportation Cards

When using public transportation, for your convenience, you can pay with a transportation card instead of cash. A transportation card allows you to use the subway, intra-city buses, taxis, and bicycles to travel.

1 Using the card

There are two types of transportation cards: T-money and Cash-bee. You will need to charge your transportation card by putting money on it before you can use it. You can purchase a transportation card at any convenience store (GS 25, 7-Eleven, CU, Emart24, etc.), subway stations (Lines 1 to 9), online T-money shops, etc. The price of the card varies and generally ranges from 4,000 to 8,000 won. You can only use your transportation card when the balance is 250 won or more.

※ T-money website: www.t-money.co.kr

※ Cash-bee website: www.cashbee.co.kr

■ Recharging and using a transportation card

Every subway station has transportation card recharging machines. The machine allows you to select a foreign language. In addition to cash, you may pay by wire transfer, or with your debit or credit card. To use the card, tap it on the turnstile sensor in the area stating "Place Your Card Here". You will hear a beep sound, and the fare will be deducted from your balance. If you want to use one transportation card for two or more people, tell the driver the number of passengers, and then tap your transportation card on the reader when instructed (only for bus).

■ Single-journey tickets

- Single-journey tickets allow you to ride on the Seoul Metropolitan Subway and are reusable. You can purchase a single-journey ticket from ticket vending machines installed in subway stations.
- When purchasing a single-journey ticket, you should pay the fare and a 500 won deposit. You can get the deposit back by returning your single-journey ticket at designated "deposit refund devices" installed in subway stations.

- Single journey ticket fares are 100 won higher than transportation card fares. You may only use single journey tickets on the Seoul subway system.

1. Purchasing a single-journey ticket

- Go to one of the "ticket vending and card reload device" machines, select your destination, and insert the fare and deposit (500 won). Select your destination. Receive your single journey ticket.

2. Use the subway

- Tap your single-journey ticket on the turnstile sensor to your right, in the area stating "Place Your Card Here" (T-money).

- Take your ticket when it's issued. You may only purchase single-journey tickets from "ticket vending and card reload device" machines. The deposit (500 won) encourages the reuse of single-journey tickets.

3. Get your deposit back

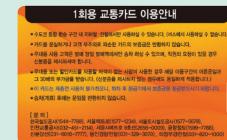

- Once you reach your destination, you can insert the single journey ticket into a "deposit refund device" to get your deposit back. Get a refund of your deposit.

Seoul has nine night buses that operate from midnight (12 am) to 4 am (based on the start of the route). Each bus has an LED display showing the bus number and an owl character on its front and side. Hence, the name, owl bus. As each bus number starts with an N for "night", it is also known as an N bus.

Q & AQ Is there a call taxi service for foreigners?

The Seoul Metropolitan Government provides International Taxi Services for foreigners for their convenience. Drivers and counselors who can speak a foreign language (English, Chinese, and Japanese) provide this service 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Foreigners can use the International Taxi Service (www.intltaxi.co.kr) in their daily lives and for a variety of purposes, such as VIP protocols for businesses, airport pick-up services, tours, and shopping guide services. Reservations are required. There are two types of taxi fare systems: the flat-rate system, and taxi meter fare system. You can pay with a T-money card or credit card.

Q Where can I purchase a T-money card for children or teenagers?

There are three types of T-money cards: those for children (6 to 12 years old), teenagers (13 to 18 years old), and adults (19 and up). Register the passenger's date of birth at a convenience store (GS 25, CU, 7-ELEVEN, etc.) or a subway station service center to get a discount. Foreigners with a short-term visa who have not completed their alien registration and foreign tourists can use a T-money card as well. If a child passenger turns 13, the teenager fare will be automatically applied to his/her transportation card.

- ④ Q&A

01 Education System

Elementary school (6 years) and middle school (3 years) are provided free of charge for all as compulsory education in Korea. Students should pay a tuition for their high school education (3 years) and decide whether or not to go to college. College education is divided into two or three-year junior college programs, and four-year college programs. Korea's school curricula mainly consist of elementary school, middle school, and high school. In addition, students may choose other types of education, such as special-education schools and technical schools. Higher-education institutions are divided into colleges, universities, graduate schools, and other types of educational institutions include junior colleges, universities of education, and vocational schools. Before entering elementary school, many kids receive a kindergarten education.

Curricula of Korea

02 Educational Institutions

1 Korean schools

In principle, the children of foreigners can enter a Korean school. If a student cannot speak Korean well enough, he/she may have difficulty adjusting to school in Korea. Therefore, it should be decided carefully after consulting with the educational institution. Korean schools can be classified into public schools and private schools. Tuition is free in public elementary schools, and students only pay for their school meals. On the other hand, the tuition at private elementary schools makes them much more expensive than public schools. Contact the Office of Education for your area for further information on entrance qualifications.

05 MEDICAL CARE

- ① Korea's Health Care Systems
- ② Medical Services for Foreigners
- ③ Health Insurance System
- ④ Q&A

01 Korea's Health Care Systems

① Health care systems

In Korea, medical institutions can be divided into three levels.

Level	Primary care center	Secondary care center	Tertiary care center
Medical services provided	Outpatient medical services, vaccinations, and health care	General medical examinations and inpatient medical services	In-depth medical examinations, treatment of disorders and diseases, and health care
Medical institutions	Clinics, community health centers, branch offices of community health centers, health care centers, maternal and child health centers, maternity clinics, health examination centers, etc.	General hospitals consisting of different medical departments	University hospitals and general hospitals

- To receive medical treatment at a general hospital providing tertiary care, a patient should submit a referral issued by a primary (clinic) or secondary (hospital) care center. If a patient goes directly to a tertiary care center without a referral from a primary or secondary care center, he/she may pay higher initial medical expenses.

- However, emergency patients, patients going through childbirth, hemophiliacs, and patients who visit the dentist, rehabilitation medicine centers, or family medicine clinics can receive medical treatment at a tertiary care center without a referral.

② Receiving medical treatment at a medical institution

▪ Primary care center

Apply for a medical consultation, presenting your health insurance card and ID at the reception desk, and wait until your name is called.

When your name is called, enter the doctor's office and describe your symptoms.

Listen to the doctor's instructions carefully and ask questions if you have any.

After the medical consultation, pay your bill and receive your prescription.

Submit the prescription to a pharmacy near the hospital and buy the medication.

▪ Secondary care center

Receive a referral from a primary care center.

Arrive at the secondary care center before your appointment and submit your health insurance card and the primary care center's referral.

Go to the medical department you made an appointment with and receive medical treatment.

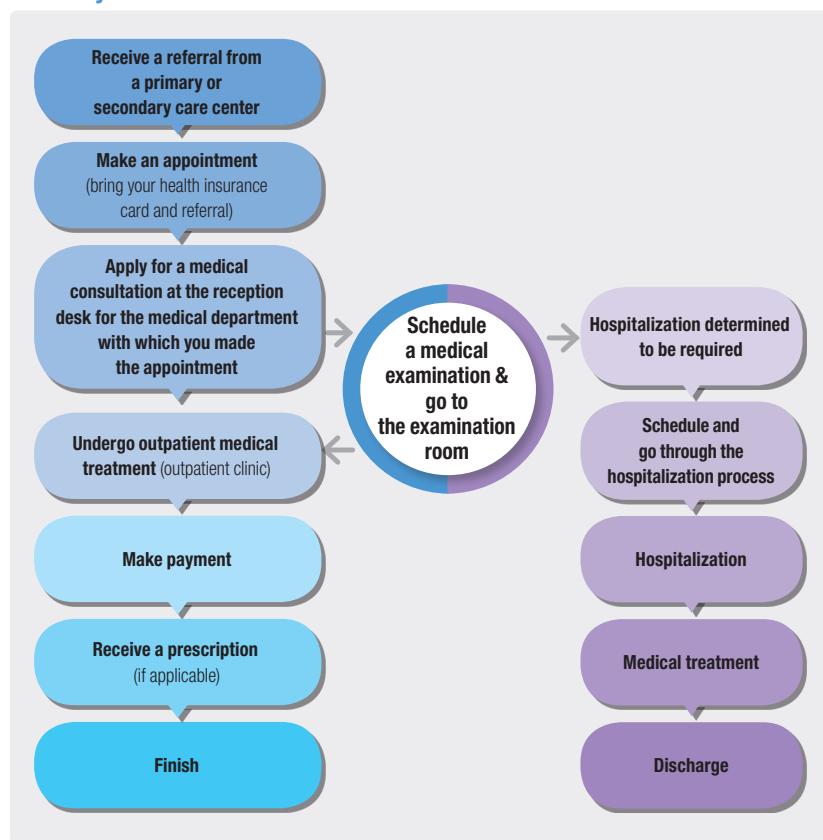

Receive your prescription and schedule your next appointment if necessary.

Pay the bill at the counter.

■ Tertiary care center

e.g., multicultural families, North Korean refugees, the elderly living alone, local children's centers (children living in poverty), youth shelters or unauthorized facilities, those who are deemed to need such services by community health center and social institution departments, etc.

• Types of services

- Health screening (understanding health behaviors and health risks)
- Management of chronic diseases (metabolic syndrome, cardiovascular disorders, cerebro-vascular diseases, etc.) and prevention of complications
- Rehabilitation and health management tailored to different life stages (infants/toddlers, pregnant women, adults, seniors, etc.) for people with disabilities residing at home
- Health care services for multicultural families and North Korean refugees
- Health education for the promotion of health

※Visit a Community Health Center with your alien registration card to get a TB test.

③ Other types of medical institutions and pharmacies

■ Community health centers

A community health center is a public medical institution established by the district to promote local residents' health and prevent and manage diseases.

• Service recipients

Local governments select those who require visiting health services from a community health center from the health risk groups and patient groups with diseases among the socially, culturally, and economically vulnerable who have difficulty accessing health promotion services.

■ Pharmacies

You can easily find signs for "drugstores" or "pharmacies" in your neighborhood. You can purchase general medical supplies as well as prescription drugs at a pharmacy. You can purchase general medical supplies, such as digestive medicines, nutritional supplements, vitamins, health drinks, and cold medicines, without a prescription. However, you need a prescription to buy prescription drugs, antibiotics, hormone drugs, painkillers, etc. You cannot purchase medicines with a prescription issued by a hospital in other countries. If you are allergic to certain drugs, consult your healthcare professional in advance to avoid the risk of unwanted side effects. You may bring enough prescription drugs for your needs before entering Korea if you are taking any.

Pharmacy

•Holiday pharmacies

Most pharmacies do not open on Sundays or during holidays. However, you can purchase medications at a drug store designated as a holiday pharmacy. Visit the website for holiday pharmacies (www.pharm114.or.kr [Korean]) for further information on business schedules, hours, addresses, etc.

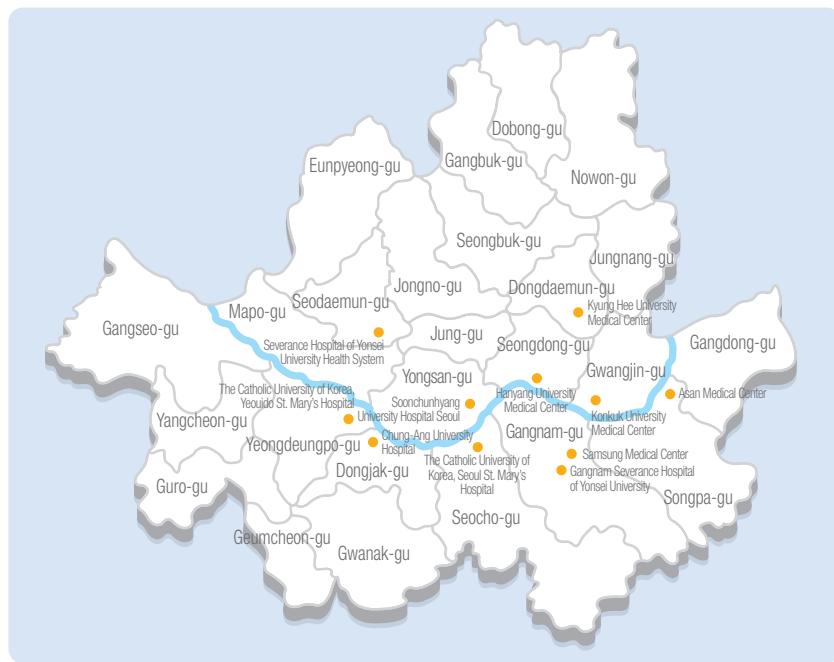

Holiday pharmacies website

④ Payment of medical expenses

In most hospitals, you can pay medical expenses with a credit card at the administration office. Some hospitals have a separate office handling the medical bills. In such case, you can pay medical expenses at an international clinic. Most general hospitals provide an English receipt upon request. Medical expenses vary depending on insurance policies. If you have bought an insurance policy abroad, it may not apply to some hospitals. In some cases, you should pay the medical bills first and then get your money back after submitting an insurance claim.

① Types of health insurance and qualifications

National Health Insurance is divided into two types – employer-sponsored health insurance, and community health insurance.

■ Employer-sponsored health insurance

Foreigners whose status of stay is acknowledged under the relevant laws are obligatorily entitled to employer sponsored health insurance. However, short-term foreign workers with an Industrial Trainee (D-3) or Work and Visit (H-2) visa may be excluded from payment of long-term care insurance premiums for older persons, as they will return to their country after the period of stay ends.

■ Community health insurance

Q & A

Q Can foreigners buy a dental insurance policy?

The treatment of tooth decay is covered by National Health Insurance. However, dental prostheses (including prostheses, processing fees, dental implants, etc.) such as false teeth (dentures) and artificial teeth (implants) are hardly covered by health care benefits, and instead are considered non-covered items. All relevant expenses, such as testing and pretreatment required for prosthesis and implant procedures, are also not covered. Some private insurance companies in Korea have recently launched dental insurance policies. Contact one for further information.

Q My dog has a severe disease. Are there any animal clinics that provide medical services in English?

Seoul has general animal hospitals equipped with state-of-the-art medical equipment for diagnosis and treatment, and equivalent animal clinics. Visit the website for Korean Veterinary Medical Association (www.kvma.or.kr/find_shap [Korean, and English]) to find an animal clinic near you. In addition, you can use electronic interpretation services for foreigners provided by the government (www.hikorea.go.kr).

Q What should I do when a medical accident occurs?

The Korea Medical Dispute Mediation and Arbitration Agency is a public organization affiliated with the Ministry of Health and Welfare founded for the purpose of relieving quick and fair damage for victims (patients) and creating a stable treatment environment for medical personnel. Services such as free counseling on medical accidents are provided. More details can be found by contacting the Health and Welfare Counseling Center (129 without the area code) or Korea Medical Dispute Mediation and Arbitration Agency (1670-2545).

02 Procedures for Obtaining a Work Visa

- ⑤ If the foreign worker intends to change the place of employment because he/she is deemed unsuitable to keep working for the same business or at the same place of business due to injury, etc., or is deemed able to work for another business or at another place of business, he/she shall apply for a job within one month from the date on which he/she quit the previous job and shall begin working at the new job within three months after the application date.

- In principle, foreign workers can change the place of employment up to three times within the permitted period of work (a maximum of three years) after the date of initial entry. If the permitted period of work is extended by reemployment, they can change the place of employment up to two times within the extended period. Q & A

- Q I worked for a private university for four years, and then I changed jobs and am now working for another private university. I didn't receive my severance pay yet from my previous workplace. How can I know how much I have paid into my pension so far?

You must be enrolled in a teachers' pension scheme, which is a pension plan for teaching staff at private universities. You should demand your retirement benefits when you quit the job to ensure that you receive the retirement pension that you have paid so far. If you changed jobs to another private university as a member of their teaching staff and have been paying into a pension plan, in this case, the teachers' pension scheme continues to remain in effect. If you demand your retirement pension, you may receive the accumulated pension amount in a lump sum. If you have paid into the teachers' pension for over 20 years, you may receive the pension in the form of periodic payments. Contact the Teachers' Pension administration to check the amount you have paid so far. (Teachers' pension: individual contributions: 8.5%, corporate contributions: 5.0%, state contributions: 3.5%)

※Teachers' Pension ☎1588-4110, www.tp.or.kr

- Q I have worked as a native-speaking language instructor for two and a half years, but the severance pay I received only corresponds to two years of employment. Can I receive the rest?

You are eligible to receive severance pay if you work at a place of business for 12 months or more. Severance pay varies depending on the number of years of continuous employment. Even though you received the severance pay corresponding to the first two years, you should be paid for the remaining six months as well because it was part of your period of continuous employment. You may file a petition to the Regional Employment and Labor Administration that has jurisdiction over the educational institute.

- Q I have been working as an English instructor at an educational institute for 9 months. According to my employment contract, I only have 10 days of unpaid leave per year. Do I not have any paid leave?

According to Article 60 of the Labor Standards Act, an employer shall grant any worker who has worked not less than 80% of one year 15 days of paid leave. As you have worked for 9 months only, you do not fulfill this condition, and are not eligible to receive a paid leave of 15 days. However, an employer shall grant any worker who has worked for less than 1 year, 1 paid day of leave for each month during which he/she has continuously worked, in accordance with the Labor Standards Act. Therefore, you are legally eligible to receive 9 days of paid leave. Regardless of the terms and conditions of your employment contract, you can have 9 days of paid leave, and your employer should pay you the wages corresponding to those 9 days.

Foreigners residing in Korea and foreigners residing abroad should follow different procedures to open a bank account.

The bank account holder should visit a bank and present his/her ID (passport, alien registration certificate, report card of the domestic place of residence, etc.) to make a bank transaction. In the Republic of Korea, all financial transactions should be made after confirming the bank account holder's real name according to the Real Name Verification Act. If an authorized representative intends to make a transaction in lieu of the bank account holder, he/she should bring evidential documents required for the financial transactions.

■ Remittance

For overseas remittances exceeding USD 5,000 per transaction, the reason for remittance and documents proving the remittance must be submitted to the bank according to the foreign exchange transaction regulations. Remittance of up to USD 50,000 per year is allowed without evidentiary documents, but they may be requested if necessary. In order to receive remittance from the home country, an account under a Korean foreign exchange bank must be created.

- Documents required : Passport, alien registration certificate, and income certificate if applicable
- How to transfer: Visit the bank or use Internet/mobile banking

■ Exchange

Foreign exchange income must be declared when bringing in cash of more than USD 10,000 in Korea (permit and declaration not required for cash of up to USD 10,000 when entering Korea.) Currency exchange can be carried out at the specified financial organization such as foreign exchange banks, and there is no limit to the amount that is exchanged at one time.

■ Online banking

For Internet banking, you must visit the bank and request Internet banking with an ID (alien registration card, passport, resident registration card). When creating your first account, we recommend requesting Internet banking at the same time. It is convenient to know your ID, which is required to connect to Internet banking, before visiting the bank. Once application for Internet banking at the bank is complete, you can connect to the bank homepage and select common certificate or financial certificate for issuance.

■ Credit cards

- Eligibility : Credit card companies have different eligibility conditions. Foreigners who meet such conditions may be issued a credit card. Applicants may be rejected according to the screening results. Some credit card companies do not issue credit cards to foreigners.
- Issuance of a credit card and documents required: Visit the nearest bank, credit card agency, or the website of a bank or a credit card company to apply for a credit card. Required documents may vary depending on the credit card companies and banks.
- Annual fees : Credit card holders should pay annual fees every year on the month when the credit card was issued. Annual fees are classified into basic annual fee and affiliate annual fee. Basic fees are charged once a year regardless of the number of credit cards, and the affiliate annual fee is charged to cover the costs for additional services provided by the card.

Q What is the maximum amount of money I can send to my country?

Foreigners residing in the Republic of Korea (including non-residents) can send up to USD 50,000 to foreign countries each year. Items worth USD 150 or less (USD 200 for US) are cleared from the duty-free list, and products that exceed this price must be declared when importing. The price of a product includes all costs incurred for taxes from the departing country, shipment fees, insurance, etc. Items worth USD 150 or less are cleared as duty-free, and items exceeding USD 150 are taxed for the total taxable price (product price+freight fee+insurance, etc.) without deduction. ☎ 1588-0560

Year-end settlement is a system to determine the total income taxes imposed on a worker by calculating his/her earned income during the taxable period (January 1 - December 31 of every year). An employer shall deduct the items subject to income tax deduction (medical expenses, insurance premiums, and educational expenses) from the earned income for the year for an employee, and then calculate the assessed tax amount of global income considering the final calculation result as the tax base of global income. After the taxes are deducted under the Income Tax Act and the Restriction of Special Taxation Act, the already paid withholding income tax of the year is taken away and then the difference is withheld. (Year-end settlement consulting service for foreigners, Online consulting, Customer Center for Foreigners)

■ Refund and additional collection

If the annual total of monthly withholding taxes imposed by a withholding agent is higher than the decided tax amount of the year-end settlement, the income earner can receive the difference as a tax refund through the year-end settlement. If the withholding taxes are less than the actual taxes, he/she shall pay the difference through the yearend settlement.

■ Year-end settlement procedure

Employees shall submit an income tax deduction application form and income tax deduction materials (receipts) required for year-end settlement to the company in January of the following year.

※ You can obtain income tax deduction materials via the website of the Year-end Settlement Simplification Service of the National Tax Service (www.hometax.go.kr).

2 Final report on global income tax

- If any withholding agent has not made the year-end settlement or any employee who quit his/her job has omitted the deducted amount from the year-end settlement, he/she shall file a final report on global income tax. If he/she has made the year-end settlement when he/she has withholding earned income only, he/she shall not have to report global income tax.

■ Refund of global income tax

If a taxpayer has paid more taxes than he/she was supposed to pay after filing a final report on global income tax, he/she may get a tax refund. The refund shall be deposited in his/her designated account around July 1 (national tax) and August 20 (local income tax).

3 Special taxation for foreign workers

If a foreign worker files an application for a single tax rate with the withholding agent or the head of the tax office having jurisdiction over his/her address when making the year-end settlement or reporting global income tax according to the Restriction of Special Taxation Act, the single tax rate of 19% may be applied to the foreign worker. In this case, he/she however shall not receive benefits from non-taxation, income tax deduction, and tax deductions when calculating the tax base and the tax amount.

If a foreigner who is from a country that has concluded the non-taxation/tax exemption convention for earned income taxes of native-speaking professors (instructors) under the tax treaty meets the conditions prescribed by the tax treaty between the country and the Republic of Korea, he/she may receive non-taxation/tax exemption benefits of earned income tax.

- If a certificate of residence is not attached to an application for non-taxation/tax exemption or an application for non-taxation/tax exemption is not submitted, the taxpayer shall not receive tax exemption benefits. However, if the taxpayer submits a certificate of residence later, he/she may receive a withholding tax refund.
